AUTHORS INSTRUCTIONS

Authors are asked to submit review articles to IBD REVIEWS. Authors will be asked to send the paper in electronic format in English language.

These instructions comply with those formulated by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (www.icmje.org). For further details, authors should consult the article: Uniform requirements for manuscripts submitted to biomedical journals www.nlm.nih.gov/bsd/uniform_requirements.html

IBD REVIEWS publishes papers reporting original scientific, clinical, epidemiologic and social research which contribute to the overall knowledge of the field of the gastroenterology. Currently, this journal publishes review articles by invitation or submitted articles. Manuscripts submitted to IBD REVIEWS will be accepted on the understanding that the authors have not submitted the paper to another journal or published the material elsewhere. Authors are asked to disclose any affiliations, including financial, consultancy, or institutional associations that might lead to bias or conflict of interest.

Under Submission of Manuscripts and Style, include the sentence:

Manuscripts should be sent in electronic through de website <http://publisher.permanyer.com> Double spacing should be used throughout the manuscript, including the following sections, each of which should begin on a separate sheet: title page, abstract, text, acknowledgements, references, figures, legends, tables, and captions. Abbreviations should be those accepted internationally, and defined where they first appear in the text. Systeme International (SI) units should be used where appropriate. www.bipm.fr/en/si/si_brochure/

Original: Review Papers Manuscripts should be 20–22 double-spaced pages, including references (max.

75 references), figures and tables. All manuscripts are peer-reviewed.

Title page

The title page should carry the full title of the paper and a «running head» of no more than 40 characters including spaces. The title page should also include the first name, middle initial and last name of each author (no more than three are accepted). If the work is to be attributed to a department or institution, its full name and location should be included. Persons listed as authors should be those who substantially contributed to the study's conception, design, and performance. Sources of support for the work in the form of grants, equipment, or drugs should be included on the title page. Disclaimers, if any, should appear on the title page, as should the name and address of the author responsible for correspondence concerning the manuscript.

Structured abstract

The abstract should not exceed 250 words. It should state the primary objective of the review, the principal reasoning for the procedures adopted, the procedures used, the main results of the referred studies, and the conclusions that can be drawn from the data available. Numerical data may be included, but should be kept to a minimum.

Key words

The abstract should be followed by a list of 4-6 keywords or short phrases which will assist in the cross-indexing of the article. The terms used should be from the Medical Subject Headings list of the Index Medicus (<http://www.nlm.nih.gov/mesh/meshhome.html>).

Text

Full papers should be divided into sections at the convenience of the author, but should include an Introduction and a Conclusion.

AUTHORS INSTRUCTIONS

References

References should be numbered consecutively in the order in which they first appear in the text. They should be assigned Arabic numerals which should be given in brackets, e.g. [17]. References should include the names of the first three authors (adding et al.) or all if there are not more than six names. References should also include full title and source information. Journal names should be abbreviated as in the Index Medicus. <http://nlmpubs.nlm.nih.gov/online/journals/lijweb.pdf>
References should be not more than 75.

Personal communications and unpublished work should not be included in the reference list, but should appear in parentheses in the text. Submitted but not yet accepted work should not be cited. Work accepted for publication but not yet released should be included in the reference list with the words «in press» in parentheses beside the name of the journal. References must be verified by the author(s) against the original documents.

Illustrations

References to figures and tables should be made in order of appearance in the text and should be in Arabic numerals in parentheses, e.g. (Fig. 2). Figures should be professionally drawn and photographed; freehand or typewritten lettering is unacceptable. Photomicrographs must have internal scale markers. If photographs of people are used, their identities must be obscured or the picture must be accompanied by written permission of the subject to use the photograph. Only black-and-white prints are admitted (except as stated below).

If a previously published figure is used, the original source must be acknowledged and written permission for print and electronic (internet and CD-ROM) formats from the copyright holder must be submitted with the material. Permission is required regardless of authorship or publisher, except for documents in the public domain. Figures may be reduced, cropped or deleted at the discretion of the Editors.

Captions for illustrations

Captions should be typed in double spacing, beginning on a separate page. Each one should have an Arabic numeral corresponding to the illustration or table to which it refers. Internal scale should be explained and staining methods for photomicrographs should be identified.

Tables

Each table should be typed on a separate sheet in double spacing. Tables should not be submitted as photographs. Each table should be assigned an Arabic numeral, e.g. (Table 3), and a brief title.

Fees and charges

For publication in IBD REVIEWS, authors are not asked to pay anything per manuscript when it is accepted for publication.

Colored illustrations

IBD REVIEWS will publish, on special request, articles with color provided that the addition cost for this (as quoted by the publishers) is prepaid by the author.

Authors who wish to have color photos/graphics published with their articles are requested to pay an amount of USD 35.00 per page printed with photo/graphic(s). Payment should be made by credit card at the time of submission of the corrected PDF of their article (final proof).
